BOMBAY, 19TH JANUARY, 1910.

NOTICE.

WHEREAS the Undersigned VOLKART BROTHERS of Karachi, acquired in or about the year 1895 for and on behalf of the SIND HYDERABAD COTTON PRESS Co., a plot of land situated near the Railway Station, at Hyderabad Sind, bearing survey Nos. 138 and 139, the said Nos. standing in their name.

And whereas it has been represented to them that the Sind Hyderabad Cotton Press Co., was composed of Jehangir Hormusjee and Esmailjee Ebrahimjee Nagree, and that on the death of the former, the High Court of Judicature of Bombay under a consent decree declared that the said Jehangir Hormusjee owned three-fourths and the said Esmailjee Ebrahimjee Nagree one-fourth, in the said Survey Nos.

And whereas it has been further represented that the said Esmailjee Ebrahimjee Nagree by a deed of sale bearing date 17th September, 1906, purchased the three-fourths share of the deceased Jehangir Hormusjee, from his Executor Pestonjee Jehangir Modi, and thus became entitled to the whole of the said Survey Nos.

And whereas the said Esmailjee Ebrahimjee Nagree having died his executrix Bai Rachibai by her constituted Attorney Caderbhai Esmailjee Nagree and his executor Caderbhai Esmailjee Nagree, have now called upon the undersigned Volkart Brothers to transfer the said numbers to their names.

This is to give notice that objections to the said transfer by any one concerned in the estate of either Jehangir Hormusjee or Esmailjee Ebrahimjee Nagree should be sent to the Undersigned within a week from the publication hereof, failing which the transfer asked for will be effected.

GOVERNMENT PAPER.

Government Paper opened at Rs. 94-1-0 and some business was done at Rs. 94-2-6 and closed at Rs. 94-2-0. Market healthier.

BULLION.

Bar Silver in London was up by 1-16 at 24 3-16 both for ready and forward and New York was up by 1-8 at 52 1-2.
Market in gold remains dull. Arrivals are heavy and dealers hold a sufficient stock to meet their requirements, and prices are likely to decline in absence of demand. This morning silver opened steady. The tendency of the market seems to be on the rise, but if London remains firm and steady, prices are likely to go up. Fair business is passing in ready goods and speculators are not yet in the market for further purchases. If they come forward market is sure to remain firm and strong.

THE WEATHER.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
SIMLA, JANUARY 20.
The weather has been slightly unsettled in the Indian Sea and a moderately heavy rainfall reported from Mergui and Port Blair, and Sibsagar had a light fall. The temperature in Northern India is recovering from the effects of the recent cold wave. The depression in Persia yestesday, was travelling Eastward and has given rain in West Baluchistan and thick cloud in Baluchistan and the extreme North.
Forecast.—A precipitation is likely in Baluchiatan and the extreme North of India.

TELEGRAPHIC WEATHER AND CROP REPORTS, 20TH JANUARY.
Amritsar.—Bright, no sign of rain. All crops doing well.
Hansi.—Bright, no sign of rain. All crops doing well. Crop prospects generally good.
Mooltan.—Bright, no sign of rain. Outstanding crops benefiting by fine weather.
Delhi.—Bright, no sign of rain. All crops doing well.
Agra.—Mornings cold and dewy. All crops doing well.
Cawnpore.—All crops doing well.
Amraoti.—Seasonable. Rabi crop prospects generally good.
Dhulia.—Bright, no sign of rain. Rabi crop prospects generally good.
Jalgaon.—All crops doing well.
Broach.—Bright, no sign of rain. Seasonable; Cotton plants shew bolls rapidly ripening. Cotton crop making good progress and accounts satisfactory. Cotton ready for picking in some, picking of first sowing partially begun and arriving in small quantities.
Viramgam.—Unusually cool. Cotton plants showing bolls. Crop prospects generally good.
Wadhwan.—Unusually cool. Mornings cold and dewy. Cotton plants ready for picking and picking partially begun. Cotton crop excellent, prospects improving and arrivals expected early.
Bhavnagar.—Arrivals coming freely (?).
Sholapur.—Cloudy, but no rain. Rain much needed generally for rabi crops.

BOMBAY DAILY WEATHER REPORT FOR THE 20TH JANUARY.
Summary of observations recorded at 8 hours on Thursday, the 20th January, 1910, giving data for the preceding 24 hours.
The Punjab.—Heavy cloud has appeared in the extreme north and light cloud in the south-west Punjab; elsewhere skies remain clear. The moisture in the air is either equal to or above the average. Day temperature has risen and is now only in slight defect; night temperature is generally normal.
The United Provinces.—Skies are clear. Humidity is normal. Both maximum and minimum temperatures remain in defect.
Sind and Rajputana.—Skies have become moderately clouded in lower Sind but remain clear elsewhere. The air is damper at Jacobabad and Kotha. Temperature has again risen but is still in defect during the day in upper Sind and east Rajputana; it is also in slight defect at night in north Rajputana.
Gujarat, Kathiawar and Central India West.—Skies are clear. Humidity is in excess in Cutch and in defect in the inland districts of Kathiawar. Temperature has risen; it is now nearly normal during the day but it still generally in slight defect at night.
The Central Provinces.—Skies are clear. The moisture in the air is in defect at some stations. Temperature has risen slightly; it is still in defect over the whole divison at night but only in the eastern half during the day.
The Konkan.—Skies are clear. Humidity and temperature are generally normal.
The Bombay Deccan and Hyderabad.—Skies are clear. The moisture in the air is in moderate to large defect. Day temperature is normal; night temperature is lower than usual except in the extreme southern districts.
General Remarks.—Weather has again been dry over the whole of reporting area. Heavy cloud has appeared in the extreme north and light to moderate cloud in the south-west Punjab and in lower Sind. This is due to the eastward advance of disturbed conditions from the west, which appear to be diminishing in intensity. Temperature is again rising and the deficiency is now nowhere large.
Dry wheather is likely except in the extreme north.

WEDNESDAY'S ELECTION RETURNS.

In the list of returns, declared on Wednesday night, several further Unionist gains were recorded, but there was little of interest, except in a few constituencies. Nottingham results come as a surprise, for it was regarded as perfectly safe, but the East division converted the Liberal surplus of 1,730 into a Conservative majority of 152, and by so doing put out Sir Henry Cotton, one of the so-called "Members for India," who may now, we think, consider his Parliamentary career at an end. The successful candidate is Captain Morrison, a brother-in-law of the Hon. A. Hill Trevor of Bombay, whom we congratulate. South Nottingham result is also worthy of remark, for Mr. Richardson, a wholesale grocer, who sat for the constituency as a Labour member, in the last Parliament, has had to make way for Lord Henry Bentinck, Unionist, with a majority which shows that 1,184 voters have changed their minds. Mr. Ormsby-Gore in the Denbigh Boroughs gains a seat by the narrow majority of eight, as against a Liberal margin of 570 at the last election. Camlachie might have put in Mr. Cross, had there not been a Labour candidate. He was returned as a Unionist in 1906, but becoming a convert to Liberalism last year, his defeat counts as a Unionist gain and he may pose as a martyr to conscience. Easy victories fell to the lot of Lord Ronaldshay at Hornsey and Mr. Nield in Ealing, but sad disasters fell to many good men on both sides, notably Sir Stirling Maxwell, Mr. Hart Davies, the Hon. H. Lygon, the Rt. Hon. J. P. Smith, Lord Tiverton, Mr. A. C. Edward, Colonel Yate, Sir George Armstrong and Sir Charles Cayzer. It is conceivable that the Irish vote in the boroughs was materially affected by the speech of Mr. Asquith at the Albert Hall in December last; but as Mr. Pease asserted on Wednesday, no definite promise was given. What he said was that the Liberals were free and had imposed upon themselves at the last election to give self-government to Ireland if desired. If the Irish have been deceived; that is their fault. If they are deceived by Mr. Lloyd-George's speech, for that too, they will only have themselves to blame, for he merely asked a question and made no promise whatever. But if the Liberals are returned to power and wish to keep it, they will have to make some show of giving Ireland Home Rule even though it be a measure which preserves the complete supremacy of the Imperial Government. Latest messages show nothing beyond a further Unionist gain of thirteen seats.

AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH IN INDIA.

THE report of the Indian Agricultural Research Institute and College at Pusa has some remarks on the general suitability of that place for the purposes of the institute. This is a subject, on which doubtless authorities agreed before expenditure was incurred, but the Director deems it necessary to justify the selection—why we cannot quite see. Anyhow it is shown that Pusa is a magnificent estate, of over thirteen hundred acres, which a loop of the Gundak river washes on three sides. The soil is deep alluvial and is capable of growing successfully nearly every rain crop which can be grown in the plains of India. With irrigation from wells or from the river, it can grow successfully the majority of the more important garden crops. At the same time the rainfall is generally secure and the place is situated in the heart of intensive agriculture, which is largely controlled by a community of indigo planters. Agricultural improvements, through their influence, can be brought, to the notice of ordinary cultivators, in a manner which is unique for other parts of India. One of the most successful experiments recorded to the past year was concerned with wheat. Several promising wheats are reported to have been isolated by selection and are now being tested for yield, agricultural characters and grain qualities. Plant-breeding work in wheat is now being conducted on a fairly large scale and the separate cultures, many hundreds in number, extend over several acres. The main objects of their hybridization work are to improve the grain, straw and rust resistance of the Indian wheats. Considerable progress has been made in the investigation into the influence of soil, climate and moisture on the character of the grain in wheat. Fruit cultivation on an extensive scale has been successfully established and most of the fruit trees are coming into bearing. The fruit experiments at Pusa have already yielded results of considerable practical importance. They have proved the suitability of the soil and climate in Behar for growing certain important varieties of fruit. Preliminary experiments with high class fruit regarding sun-drying, evaporating and refrigerating, have been carried out. A method was also devised and successfully tested for sending peaches long distances by rail in India.

Most interesting to this part of India is that section of the report which deals with the progress of cotton experiments. During April and May, it is recorded, an extensive enquiry was made regarding the varieties of cotton and the conditions under which the cotton crop is grown in Guzarat and Kathiawar. In Surat and Broach districts the quality of the cotton is best in the South and gradually gets worse nearer north. Navsari has the finest and longest staple, then come Surat and Broach. This, it is assured, may be due to the heavier rainfall and greater atmospheric humidity at Navsari, owing to its proximity to the sea, for there is little apparent difference in the soil. Cultivators of the neighbouring districts have used Navsari seed, but although the produce was ginned and despatched to Bombay separately, it failed to realise the same price as that obtained for cotton at Navsari. This, it is thought, may have been due in part to the marks on the bales, showing that the cotton came from Broach and Surat. The two cotton varieties, "Deshi" and "Ghoghari," grown in the latter two districts are regarded by the Imperial Cotton Specialist, to be quite suitable to the tract, but it is absolutely necessary for the cultivators to maintain the purity of the seed. The growing practice of separating seed from the fibre in ginning factories, instead of as formerly by hand-gins, has tended to injure the quality by mixing the seed and Mr. Gammie would have growers remember that there can be no improvement unless the seed is at least equal to the average of the previous crop. The improvement by selection of seed continued from year to year is important. "If the careful selection of seed is practised and if the cultivator takes the trouble to hand-gin his seed at home there is hope that the lint will be improved in quality and that the outturn per acre will also increase. In selecting the seed, cotton should be picked from the best sound bolls of large healthy plants of branching habit of growth, each plant having a large number of bolls. Of the two varieties now growing in these districts the Broach Deshi is the standard, but Mathia and Navesary are recommended for Kathiawar as they give good yields, mature early and can be grown without much risk in years of scanty rainfall.

In Sind, it appears, the Cotton Specialist discussed the subject of cotton cultivation with Mr. Henderson, Deputy Director of Agriculture. The latter is of opinion that the way sanguine estimates formed on the results of trial sowing of Egyptian cotton must be considerably modified in the light of recent results. He states that no further extension of the area suitable for growing Egyptian cotton, can be counted on outside the Jamrao canal district until a further system of perennial canals is constructed and that on the Jamrao canal a maximum of not more than ten to twenty thousand acres could be sown under favourable circumstances. Further, the Deputy Director states that owing to scarcity of labour, occasional scarcity of water and the often alkali condition of the soil, the Jamrao cultivators prefer a surer, if less profitable, return in the cultivation of millets and short stapled indigenous cotton to giving the requisite care to the cultivation of Egyptian cotton. Despite the unsatisfactory results hitherto obtained, Mr. Henderson believes that good results can be got with Egyptian cotton, when Egyptian methods of cultivation are closely followed. He lays special stress on very careful cultivation and rotation of the cotton crop with berseem. The American cottons, Texas big boll, and Boyd's Prolific and the acclimatised Dharwar-American, having a shorter growing period than Egyptian cotton, have been tested in Sind found suitable for sowing on inundation canals. At the sewage farm in Karachi, Spence, Egyptian and Sea Island cottons were tried with disappointing results, but it seems there was no need for disappointment as cotton is in no way a suitable crop for a sewage farm. Many further experiments, under the direction of Pusa, are to be carried out in the current year and it appears that many of the Kathiawar States have undertaken to try superior cotton growing, there being ground for hope that the former good varieties will again find a footing there.

THE ENGLISH CANALS.

THE report has appeared of the Royal Commission appointed in 1906 to enquire into the canals and inland navigations of the United Kingdom after that body has deliberated for four years. The Commission was given the fullest powers of enquiry, being restricted in no way as to the ideas which should be followed, but there were general main points laid down. One of the first of these was to examine the existing financial position and then to find the causes which have operated against the carrying out of improvements, while the probable benefits which would result from a revival of water carriage led on to the question of the nationalization of the waterways or at least their control by public bodies. The majority report is signed by sixteen members, but six of these dissent in more or less violent fashion, so it cannot be said that there is any real unanimity of opinion. Four main routes are laid down, one being from Birmingham to London, the second one is the river Trent with the junction with the Mersey the Trent and Mersey canal, the third is the main route from the Mersey and Manchester Ship Canal to Frandley Junction bringing in parts of the Coventry and Birmingham and the Birmingham and Warwick Canals with important branches, while the fourth route is from Birmingham to the Severn with linking branches to other systems. This is only to be regarded as the first part of the work to be done, but the Commissioners say: "These four routes, with the branches specified, should, under any policy of improvement, be treated as great highways traversing Central England. They should be amalgamated under a single control, and should undergo such improvement as will make them an efficient means of transporting a volume of long distance traffic far larger than that which they at present attract. If these steps be taken and if the amalgamation under the same control, as well as the improvement of certain shorter waterways which would feed the main routes with traffic, be included in the scheme, many of the great manufacturing and consuming centres of England will be linked with each other and with the great sea ports by waterways permitting the cheap transport of minerals and goods not requiring the highest speed.

The Midland districts will have cheap access to and from the four great estuaries for the import of raw material and the export of certain classes of products; and coal may be brought to London by improved waterways from the coalfields of South Staffordshire and from those in the counties of Warwick, Nottingham, and Derby." To accomplish the work it is suggested as necessary to establish a Central Waterway Board consisting of five paid Commissioners who should have power with the sanction of the Treasury to issue stock or raise loans guaranteed by the State. The report then becomes exceedingly dubious for the first suggested work, for the Commissioners seems to be that they should make the enquiries all over again. The reason is perhaps that there does not seem to be great keenness to use the canals by the trades concerned that there is on the part of the Commission to benefit those trades, in fact, the replies to enquiries were far from satisfactory. Those interrogated, says the report, were for the most part unwilling as might, perhaps, have been expected, to commit themselves to any definite statements of what they would do in a hypothetical case. The most important results of these inquiries were the replies sent by the Erewesh Valley coalowners in the Nottingham district, and by the coalowners in the South Staffordshire and Warwickshire districts. These replies indicate a probability that, if there were a reduction of 50 per cent. in the total cost of transport per ton per mile, 3,000,000 tons of coal per annum might be sent to London by inland water route from those two districts alone. If to the statements from the two colliery districts which we have mentioned are added other definite statements which were made by manufacturers in reply to written questions, the total amount of traffic predicted on Route A amounts, in case of a 50 per cent. reduction in rates, to 4,220,912 tons and in case of a 25 per cent reduction to 1,550,178 tons. Naturally too the railways are very averse to the canals and the railway witnesses seem to have been the only ones who could talk about the conditions with genuine familiarity. The general line of criticism is that the expenditure involved would be enormous with little hope of ever being regained and therefore it seems likely that the four years' work of the Royal Commission is likely only to find its way into a pigeon-hole.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

(FROM OUR LADY CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, DECEMBER 31.

ONE of the most charming sights of Christmas is to see whole families, parents and children attending divine service on Christmas Day. People who never attend a Church any other day in the year, make a great effort to be present on this one day. The traditions of this service are exquisitely beautiful. I hope it will never drop out. Perhaps the ideal of a hundred years ago for Christmas Day was as good a one as ever we shall have. "The forenoon of the day is usually passed in Church, and in the evening the reunited members of the family assemble round the joyous Christmas board." An ancient belief long existed that when Christmas Day falls on a Sunday, all is well; but if it should come on a Saturday it is greatly the reverse of well. Here is a bit of mediæval folk-lore on the matter,

If Christmas on the Saturday falle,
That wynter is to be dredden alle.
Hyt shalle so full of grete tempeste,
That hyt shall sle bothe man and beste.

One hopes that the year may prove to be a refutation of this ancient belief.

Another tradition of Christmas which has greatly altered in England, is the family gathering. In the early Victorian days "only" the members of the family gathered round the festive board. Now many outsiders are admitted and in town Christmas dinner at a restaurant with a jolly party is quite usual.

ENGLISHWOMEN.

The following is very high praise for Englishwomen but admittably true: There is no more beautiful type of woman in the civilised world than an English lady of the upper classes. She elects both in ideas and dress to be individual. By no means ignoring the prevailing mode, she, or her dressmaker, cleverly adapts it to her own style and figure, so making everything she wears part of her own personality. Never over-corseted, the lines of her beautiful body are allowed a natural freedom. She would have no difficulty in recovering a dropped purse, and though when tired or seedy she may loll or stoop; she is seldom ungraceful, and never afraid to move her limbs. See her easy, swinging walk; watch her at her sport or in a ball-room, and though the American now runs her close in grace and vigour, she is unique. The Frenchwoman, shorter in stature, graceful to her finger-tips, often poses for effects, and frequently "toddles" instead of walking. Her charm is undeniable, but somewhat exotic—the effect of the forcing frame, produced by too much self-consciouness and corsets. To see an Englishwoman in full Court dress curtsey to her Sovereign is to see the perfection of what art and Nature combined can produce in the way of womanhood.

PRESENT FASHION.

One cannot help wondering whether, if the fashionable Frenchwoman dropped her purse or handkerchief, she would perforce have to wait until someone picked it up for her, or if she would risk disarranging her toilette by stooping for it herself—if she could manage to do so. The fair Austrian follows these lines very closely. She, too, is an admirable work of art. Almost twin sister to the Frenchwoman in ideas, sartorial, the aristocratic Austrian is the finished production of the science of dress. Trim, straight and upright they are living models for the creations they wear, never showing signs of fatigue or "floppiness." Surely a little more nature, a trifle less art, would not be unattractive!

LADY MOTORISTS.

The number of ladies who make use of cars and still are unable to drive themselves is rather surprising. The pleasures of motoring are so great that it is indeed hard to understood why ladies should allow themselves to be dependent upon their men folk in order to indulge in the pastime. It is true that nowadays one sees far more lady drivers than one did a year or two back, but the number is not nearly so great as it ought to be. It is hard to find an adequate reason for this. Those ladies who do drive assert that there is nothing so very wonderful in the way of nerve required for the purpose, neither is the requisite skill in any way beyond the capacity of a woman.

JAPAN-BRITISH EXHIBITION.

The Japanese exhibits at the forthcoming "Japan-British" Exhibition at Shepherd's Bush, will be absolutely unique. The appeal to the patriotic instincts of the ancient nobility of Japan has induced them to lend from their family collections the most treasured heirlooms, so that every period and phase of the art of the country will be represented. It is hoped that a reciprocal feeling will enable the promoters of the exhibition to show side by side with the Japanese works a loan collection of British art which will represent absolutely the best work ever produced in this country.

WOMEN'S WORK.

A notable feature will be the exhibition of women's work. Here the British public will see what Japanese ladies are doing in connection with the Red Cross Society of Japan, one of the most thorough and well-equipped organisations of its kind in the world. Her Imperial Majesty herself made bandages not only for her own soldiers during the war, but also for wounded Russian prisoners. Here, too, will be demonstrated how much attention is paid to the education of woman. So far as the arts and crafts are concerned, there are to be very fine samples of lace-work, drawn-work, gold and silver work, embroideries, and brocades. Musical instruments used by women will be exhibited. There are to be demonstrations in the art of floral decorations, and something will be shown of the famous tea ceremonies. In the matter of the toilet, European ladies will be delighted with the daintily exquisite toilet sets, useful as well as artistic, and with the magnificent, modern, richly embroidered costumes made by Japanese women. Photographic displays and collections illustrative of what Japanese women can accomplish as regards prose and poetry are also to find a place in this section.

HISTORY OF JAPAN.

The history of Japan for 25 centuries will be shown in a series of twelve historic tableaux, the figures in which will be life-size :—

1. The days of the Emperor Jimmu.
2. The Nara period (spread of art and learning).
3. 4. 5. The Heian and Fujiwara periods (customs and pleasures.)
6. The Gempei epoch (Japanese chivalry).
7. Kamakura period (Samurai sports).
8. Ashikaga times (the classic No dance).
9. Momoyama period (family life).
10. Tokugawa period (a cherry-blossom picnic).
11. Tea ceremonies.
12. Japan of to-day.

Finally it should be mentioned that one of the most instructive section will be that devoted to the development of Japan's Navy. It is only about 300 years since. Will Adams the Kentish man, was teaching Japan how to build ships, and her latest triumph is the launch from the Japanese naval yards of the "Aki" and the "Satsuma"—two of the most powerful Dreadnoughts in the world. They are entirely Japanese creations. Two more Dreadnoughts of over 20,000 tons displacement, with 12in. guns, are also in course of construction at the same Government yards.

A COSTLY HOME.

The magnificent Fifth-avenue palace of ex-Senator W. A. Clark, the finest private residence in the United States, is now ready for occupancy after having taken seven years to construct, at an aggregate cost of £1,400,000. Mr. Clark, who owns some of the richest mines in the West and possesses an income of £2,500,000, will move into the home with his family after he has given up his present Paris residence. The house is at the corner of Seventy-seventh-street and Fifth-avenue, overlooking Central Park. It is seven steries high and contains 121 rooms, including 30 bathrooms, a Turkish bath, swmming pool, picture gallery, theatre, statuary hall, ball-room, conservatory, and roof garden. There are paintings to the value of £400,000 in the picture gallery, and rugs of the value of £200,000 are scattered about the house. An unusual feature of the residence is an enormous quantity of bronzes used for decorative purposes inside and outside the structure. The aggregate weight of the bronzes exceeds 400 tons, and all were modelled after original designs at a cost of £100,000. On various parts of the exterior are 120 cartouches of bronze, weighing more than 200 tons. Magnificent tapestries and beautiful marbles abound on all the floors.

THE MISTRESS.

The mistress of the house was married to Mr. Clark in 1905. She was Miss Ada La Chapelle, daughter of a Canadian doctor, who was an intimate young manhood friend of Mr. Clark. When the doctor died he was not wealthy, and he left his young daughter in Mr. Clark's care, as her guardian. Miss La Chapelle grew up with Mr. Clark's household and she showed an early liking for music. Mr. Clark sent her to Paris to have her voice trained, at which time he was a widower. Since their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Clark have made their home in Paris, where a son and a daughter have been born, but now that their Fifth-avenue mansion is completed they will make New York their permanent residence.

THE FURNITURE.

The furniture is of Louis XIV., XV., XVI., and Empire styles. Experts searched France from end to end to obtain original pieces. The Empire ceiling of an old chateau was brought from France for one of the rooms of the house. In the basement is the swimming pool, into which flows a perpetual stream of filtered water. Turkish bath, sufficiently large to accommodate seven bathers, and built with Oriental extravagance, is also in the basement. Near it is a refrigerating plant, which besides having a capacity of six tons of ice, is able to cool the entire house in summer. The public will be admitted once a week to the house, as if it were a royal palace, for the purpose of viewing Mr. Clark's fine art collections.

A CHAT ABOUT BOOKS.

"A GERMAN STAFF OFFICER IN INDIA,"—(Kegan Paul).—Count Hans von Konigsmarck gives us his impressions during four tours in India, ranging from the Frontier to Ceylon. One thing, struck the Count as remarkable—that was the amazing way in which British rule is gradually turning the deserts of India into green and productive plains. He considers these colossal irrigation schemes the epoch-making facts of British enterprise in the Far East. It is exceedingly gratifying to find ourselves described by a foreigner as "pleasant to live and travel with." A book of very pleasant reading.

"MODERN WOMAN AND HOW TO MANAGE HER," by Walter M. Gallichan—(Werner Laurie).—Every woman is proud of the fact that she knows how to manage her particular man, and without any teaching to. Now the tables are turned and a mere man comes along and writes a book to try and teach his comrades in distress how to manage woman. The author gives away the secret in a series of bright chapters, in which he mingles philosophy, humour, and common-sense with great skill.

"CANDLES IN THE WIND," by Maud Diver—(Blackwood)—Mrs. Diver again displays her thorough knowledge of India, also a very true conception of the Anglo-Indian, but her latest book does not impress one quite so favourably as "Captain Desmond," which was a fine book. A half-caste and his marriage with a European is the subject of this story. The wife is not altogether a sympathetic heroine, she pays rather too much attention to her lovers. The story on the whole is very readable.

"ROMANCE AT RANDOM," by H. B. Marriott-Watson—(Methuen.)—Some years ago a series of stories called "The Stars of Happy Chance" appeared, the present volume is a sort of continuation or more adventures. This time the hero is Lord de Lys. It is his custom to knock at any front door, to pretend that he has been asked to dine, to strag into the drawing-room, and to await developments. He is taken for a piano-tuner, for a burglar, for several lovers, for husbands, for fathers, and always, like another Claude Duval, he rescues some lady from trouble and upsets some villainy. It would not, of course, do for every one to enter houses in this fashion—then you immediately advance Socialistic theories that might have most dangerous consequences were they liberally practised, but Lord de Lys's manners, his clothes, and his character are all charming, and nobody can resist him. He himself must inevitably, in such affairs, play the part of the onlooker, and he always slips away when he has set things right—that is the spirit of true romance.

"VILLA RUBEIN AND OTHER STORIES," by John Galsworthy—(Duckworth and Co.)—These stories have appeared before but not as one book. The first story gives its title to the book. "A Man of Devon," "A Knight," "Salvation of a Forsyte," "The Silence,"—are the remaining stories. Little need be said about them. Mr. Galsworthy is a noted writer. They are charming stories. "A Man of Devon" being particularly pathetic.

REPORTS are received that Afghan armed traders are manifesting much hostility at the action of Government in intercepting their caravans and that at Charbhag near Muscat and possibly elsewhere they have severed the telegraph wires.

OWING to a recent gale off the Sind coast one or two vessels are reported to have grounded and sunk near Hajuno Creek about sixty miles distant from Karachi. These are country coasting sailing boats. Owing to renewed activity in shipping trade, the wharves at Karachi are full, necessitating steamers anchoring in the stream.

THE total number of deaths registered in Bombay during the week ending 18th January was 593, giving a death-rate of 31·53 per annum per thousand as against 30·89 the corresponding period of last year, and 40·27 the average over the past five years. Of the total number 52 died from fevers; 19, plague; 17, small-pox; 4, measles; 2, cholera; 1, leprosy; 50, phthisis; 44, diseases of the nervous system; 155, affections of the respiratory organs; 26, diarrhœa; 26, dysentery; 32, still-born; 82, old age and debility; 21, accidents and violence. The classified list of deaths shows :—Jain, 17; Brahmin, 20; Lingaet, 4; Bhattia, 2; Hindu of other caste, 264; Hindu low caste, 69; Musulman, 152; Parsee, 29; Jew, 3; Native Christian, 29; Eurasian, 3; European, 1; Negro-African 1. The total number of births was 392 as against 408 the corresponding period of last year, and 402 the average over the past five years.

THE GENERAL ELECTION.

MR. ASQUITH ON HOME RULE.

Promise Denied.

VERDICT OF THE COUNTIES AWAITED.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, JANUARY 20.

Forty-seven elections take place to-day.

The papers are anxiously awaiting the results of yesterday's elections in the Counties which are regarded as decisive. The Conservative papers make a feature of the recent reply to a heckler by the Liberal Whip, Mr. J. Pease, that no pledge regarding Home Rule was given by Mr. Asquith in his speech at the Albert Hall on December 10th. What he said was that Liberals were free and had imposed upon themselves at the last Election to give self-government to Ireland if desired. Conservatives declare that the Irish have been betrayed.

Mr. Lyttelton, speaking at Guildford, last night, demanded an explanation from Mr. Asquith as to whether he meant to give Home Rule or whether the Albert Hall promise was a mere bait. He asked why the statement of the real intentions was withheld until the English boroughs, where there were Irish voters, had been polled.

Mr. Asquith, speaking at Largo, was heckled, but refused to give details of the measure of Home Rule, but he did not favour any measure failing to preserve the complete supremacy of the Imperial Government.

Mr. Lloyd-George, in a speech at Conway, asked why not grant Ireland Home Rule as had been done to the Dutchmen in South Africa, who were now Great Britain's best friends. He anticipated that the Liberal majority would exceed that of the Unionists in the Khaki election.

Mr. Asquith, in a speech at Cupar to-day, deprecated the importation of foreign and colonial opinions into domestic struggles.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JANUARY 20.

The London correspondent of the Englishman wires:—"Lord Charles Beresford received yesterday over 600 telegrams of congatulations. He declares that he will take an early opportunity of demanding an enquiry into the Navy. The tone of the Radical newspapers to-day is more chastened.

ALLAHABAD, JANUARY 20.

The Pioneer's London correspondent wires:—"Mr. Asquith's refusal to promise legislation prior to the disposal of the Lords, has given an answer to the question whether Home Rule is really or not in the Prime Minister's programme. Mr. Pease, the Liberal Whip, on the previous night, had denied that Mr. Asquith had pledged himself to Home Rule at the Albert Hall. He had merely declared, said Mr. Pease, that the pledge to the contrary given in 1906 was no longer operative. The Times, assuming this is due to Mr. Asquith's instruction, terms the proceeding a dirty trick. The universal interpretation of the Albert Hall speech which has been used to induce the Irish in England and Ireland to vote for the Budget, has not been repudiated until the borough elections where the Irish vote is important are nearly over."

LAHORE, JANUARY 20.

Commenting on the election results, the Civil and Military Gazette says:—There will be widespread rejoicing among Englishmen in India that Sir Henry Cotton has been defeated at Nottingham. His attitude towards Indian questions has given grave offence to a vast majority of his fellow countrymen out here, and they will hope that East Nottingham's example will be followed by certain other constituencies represented in the last Parliament by self styled "friends of India."

NASIK MURDER CASE.

Formal Evidence Taken.

ANOTHER BROWNING PISTOL FOUND IN POONA.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

NASIK, JANUARY 20.

Further hearing was resumed to-day before Mr. Alexander Montgomerie I.C.S., First Class Magistrate of Nasik, in the Nasik murder case. A few more formal witnesses were examined and the proceedings were postponed till the 26th instant when it is hoped the case will be disposed of so far as the magisterial proceedings are concerned.

POONA, JANUARY 20.

A Police Inspector of the Criminal Investigation Department, with the help of the City Police, arrested a Marwari named Gunnaj Pithaji in Bhawani Pet. His house was searched where gunpowder, blasting material and other explosives were found concealed in the back yard. Further enquiries led to the arrest of another man, named Vishnu Balwant Dowray, for having assisted in the concealment. Both have made certain statements before the Magistrate and further enquiries are proceeding. Another house named Kankar's Wadi belonging to Anandrao Vishnu was also searched where a Browning pistol was found secluded in an earthenware pot containing lime and lodged in a latrine. Shanker Pandurang Mahajan is also arrested in connection with the finding of the pistol. Both the accused on being placed before the Magistrate were remanded for further police enquiries.

ANOTHER EDITOR ARRESTED.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

KHULNA, JANUARY 18.

The Editor of the Khulnabase was arrested to-day under Sections 123A and 153A and released on bail of Rs. 500. The hearing has been fixed for the 27th instant. The Pallichitra sedition case and the Pallichitra Press confiscation case were taken up by Mr. R. C. Hamilton, the District Magistrate, on the 17th and the 18th instant. The Court Inspector appearing for the prosecution and several local pleaders for the defence. A few prosecution witnesses were examined in the former case, including the Police Superintendent of Khulna, the Sub-Inspector, two Government Assistant Translators, and a Muktear of Bagerhat. Charges were framed under Sections 124A and 153A and the case was adjourned to the 24th for further evidence. After the examination of some witnesses in the confiscation case, it was adjourned to the 25th instant.

THE NEW REGIME IN PERSIA.

General Improvement Evident.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ALLAHABAD, JANUARY 20.

A correspondent writes to the Pioneer as follows on the new regime in Persia:—While the Persian Government has been seriously handicapped in carrying out its programme of reform by want of funds it has in spite of the obstacles in the way in a great measure succeeded in restoring conditions in Teheran which will make for the advancement of the people throughout Persia. In spite of the limited means at its command the Government has been successful in not only re-establishing its authority in the provinces, but in introducing partial measures of reform in the capital. The police arrangements in Teheran show signs of improvement. The force has practically been reorganised and distributed over the entire area of the town. A movement has been set on foot for the establishment of a large college and other schools. Steps have been taken to provide instruction to poor people at both day and night classes.

The discussions in the Mejliss are at present confined to measures of reform in administration. It is believed that measures will be devised to reduce expenditure and evade the necessity of a foreign loan. The bulk of Nationalist opinion is opposed to the acceptance of an Anglo-Russian loan on the conditions laid down by the two Powers. It is rumoured that French financiers have been approached with a view to negotiate for a loan on a purely commercial basis.

THE recent seasonable rain in the interior has given a fillip to grain exports.

THE GOVERNOR'S TOUR.

Reception of Chiefs.

ADDRESS TO RAJ KUMAR COLLEGE COUNCIL.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

RAJKOT, JANUARY 18.

H. E. THE GOVERNOR of Bombay, was occupied this morning in receiving visits of various of the Kathiawari Chiefs at the Residency. The first of these was the Raj Saheb of Dhrangadhra who with his suite was received by one of H. E.'s Aides-de-Camp and on reaching the verandah was conducted by Mr. DuBoulay Secretary to the Political Department, into His Excellency's presence. Here the ceremony was similar to that usually adopted on occasions of this kind. His Highness taking a seat on the right of the Governor who had seated on his left, the Agent to the Governor, the Secretary to the Political Department and his Private and Military Secretaries and other members of his staff. Having taken his seat, the Raj Saheb rose and presented a nazar of 75 gold mohurs, which was touched by His Excellency and remitted. The ministers and officials attending the Raj Saheb were then presented to the Governor by Mr. Claude Hill, the Agent, and each offered nazars of one gold mohur, which also were touched by His Excellency and remitted. The interview, after some conversation, closed with the presentation of attar and pan to His Highness by the Governor and to the Raj Saheb's officers by an Aide-de-Camp. A salute of eleven guns signalised the arrival and departure of His Highness.

Later in the morning other Chiefs were similarly received, the nazar being of reduced sums according to classes. The Thakore Saheb of Morvi and the Thakore Saheb of Gondal, were the only other visiting Chiefs of the first class, Chiefs of the second and third classes, who were received by His Excellency were, the Raj Saheb of Vankaner, the Thakor Saheb of Dhrol, the Thakor Saheb of Limbdi, the Thakor Sahab of Rajkot, the Thakor of Lakhtor, the Thakor of Vala, the Chief of Jasdan, and the Chief of Manavadar.

MORAL TRAINING FOR RAJ KUMARS.

In the afternoon His Excellency presided at a meeting of the Council of the Raj Kumar College. The meeting was held in private, but afterwards a copy of the Governor's speech was forwarded to the Press correspondents.

The Governor said:—I am very glad to have this opportunity of presiding at a meeting of the Council of this very important College. I have looked through the proceedings of recent Council meetings and I am glad to note the great interest taken by the Chiefs in the administration of their own College. I am convinced that the change in the constitution of this Council, by which complete control is vested in the Chiefs, will lead to real and permanent advantages. I do not believe in divided responsibilities and it is to the Chiefs that I look to guide the destinies of the College which they have founded, and to ensure that the educational requirements of their sons and relatives are met now and in the future. I gather from the proceedings to which I have referred that the Council has shown wise caution in regard to some social reforms which it has recently discussed. In such matters, it is generally undesirable to proceed far in advance of public opinion; but that opinion may probably be influenced by the enquiry and the deliberations which have taken place.

A SELF-SUPPORTING INSTITUTION.

There is another question on which I wish to say a few words. I understand that the control of the College budget is not in the hands of this Council, but is settled by the States' Karbharis at their annual meeting. In the early days of the College, it was natural that financial control should be vested in the States as a body and not in a Council which was then non-representative. The existence of the College was due to the far-seeing generosity of the States, which constructed the buildings and provided a fixed endowment fund. Formerly the interest on this fund, and the fees charged, did not suffice to cover the annual expenditure and there was a deficit to be made good from the States' General Fund which is, of course, administered by the States' representatives. The conditions have now entirely changed. Government have undertaken to make a fixed contribution calculated to cover the whole cost of the European Staff, and the College has become self-supporting. The alteration in the constitution of the Council recently sanctioned by Government, to which I have referred, has further modified the original situation. The representatives of the Chiefs have been increased so as to give them an absolute majority on the Council, with consequent full control over the government of the College. Moreover, as the Chiefs on the Council are elected by the Chiefs of the States which contribute to the endowment fund, the latter are directly represented. "Tempora mutantur et nos mutamur in illis." It, therefore, seems to me that the time has arrived when a readjustment of financial control is logically required. I do not know what your views are on this question; but I think you will perhaps agree with me that the powers and the dignity of this Council should not be impaired by a separate system of financial administration. Mr. Hill informs me that the Karbharis have been most reasonable in sanctioning necessary expenditure; but the point is whether their possible veto on the proposals of the representative Chief on this Council, who must have full knowledge of the College affairs and have its best interests at heart, is any longer desirable.

NEED OF MORAL TRAINING.

There is only one other matter to which I welcome this opportunity of drawing your attention, and that is the important question of moral training. In all educational establishments throughout India, especially in a Chiefs' College, there is urgent need for such training, and opinion in India shows growing unanimity on the point. It is plainly insufficient and it may be dangerous to impart knowledge without reference to the moral sanctions by which the lives of men ought to be governed. Knowledge alone does not provide an adequate guide of life, and fails to form character and to provide inspiring motives of thought and of action in relation to the affairs of men. I am well aware of the difficulties which surround this great question; but in a College like this there are some considerable advantages which are not available in other Institutions. Here at least it does not seem impracticable to give moral training which, while avoiding all sectarian differences, would keep alive the best religious instincts of India, and would influence for good the after lives of the Kumars. I venture to suggest that the Council might well give this question their earnest consideration and that it may be possible to them to set an example to the rest of India, an example greatly needed at the present time, when the results of the neglect of religion, or of its perversions to evil ends are becoming painfully apparent.

Visit to Jamnagar.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

JAMNAGAR, JANUARY 20.

The Governor of Bombay left Rajkot by special train this morning and arriving at Jamnagar station was welcomed by the Jam Saheb. His Excellency and staff having been garlanded by His Highness a long procession, accompanied by the Imperial Service Troops, drove through the city to Fitzgerald House where the Governor will stay. Behind the procession there was a cavalcade of state elephants, camels and chargers, silver palanquins and carriages and bullock carts bearing a leopard and lynx.

Formal calls were paid in the afternoon and there was a quiet dinner in the evening.

CLASSICAL ASSOCIATION.

Formation of a Branch in Bombay.

A MEETING was held yesterday afternoon at the Town Hall to form a branch of the Classical Association. The Hon'ble Mr. Justice Batchelor presided. And among those present were Mr. Justice Beaman, Mr. Justice Knight, the Hon. Mr. Jenkins, the Hon. Mr. Lamb, Mrs. P. B. Haigh, the Organizing Secretary, Mr. P. A. Haigh, I.C.S., Mr. Hotson, I.C.S., Mr. Bolus, I.C.S., Mr. Whitty, I.C.S., the Consul-General for Russia, Mr. Haig-Brown, Father Allinger, S.J., Dr. Scott and others.

THE CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH.

In his opening speech Mr. Justice Batcheler gave an account of the origin and objects of the Classical Association and showed what had been its practical achievements. He then gave an account of the origin of the Bombay Branch. "For some years back," he said, "the Association has been represented in India by a few scattered members, but they have had no opportunity of meeting together, nor were their numbers then sufficient to enable them to have any influence. About twelve months ago our Organising Secretary Mrs. Haigh, who was an original member of the Association, having recruited a few new members from among her personal friends, began to think that the cause of classical studies in India might be advanced if the few professed scholars in the country, and the larger number who in their youth had attained to some measure of scholarship, were given a centre where they could meet. The idea was communicated to the authorities at home, who at first suggested the foundation of an Affederated Society similar to those in Australia. The practical difficulties arising from the conditions of life in India were pointed out and finally, when Mrs. Haigh visited England last year she was able, after an interview with Dr. Butcher and some correspondence with Professor Sonnenschein to get all difficulties cleared away. As a result we have now the Central Association's full approval of the formation of this Branch, the only Branch outside the confines of England and Wales.

After referring to the conditions of membership and other matters, the Chairman described the objects which this Branch proposes to set before itself in particular. Besides the annual meeting, he said, we hope to hold smaller meetings from time to time at which original papers shall be read, and members shall be able to discuss questions of interest to students of the classics. It is also suggested that the members, or those of them who desire to do so, should meet informally from time to time to read some classical author.

In concluding his speech, Mr. Justice Batchelor said:—Before I close, I must refer to the great loss which the Branch has sustained in the tragic death of Mr. A. M. T. Jackson, and erudite and gentle scholar, and a personal friend of many of us here. From the first day when the formation of the Branch was suggested Mr. Jackson took the most lively interest in the scheme. He was constantly consulted, on his monthly visits to Bombay, on everything affecting the interests of the Branch, and on the last occasion when he came to Bombay just a fortnight before his death he was present at an informal meeting at which the final arrangements for the constitution of the Branch were discussed. It will, I think, be no more than a recognition of the debt which we owe Mr. Jackson if the Branch places on record its regret at his untimely death and its sympathy with his widow."

After letters from His Excellency the Governor the Bishop of Bombay, and others had been read, a resolution was passed constituting the Branch the draft rules were read and approved, a Committee was appointed and votes of thanks passed to Mrs. Haigh, the Organizing Secretary and to Mr. Justice Batchelor for presiding. At the conclusion of the meeting the newly elected Committee sat to elect members of the Branch. The membership has already reached 38.

Mr. Haigh then read the rules and regulations which were passed.

He also read letters from several gentlemen expressing sympathy with the object of the meeting, and their regret at being not able to be present there.

The Private Secretary to His Excellency the Governor in a letter said:—"His Excellency wishes me to acknowledge your letter of the 11th instant and to say that he will gladly be patron of the Bombay Branch of the Classical Association. His Excellency hopes it may be the means of inspiring some original work by scholars in India."

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were then passed:—

That the meeting do hereby constitute a Branch of the Classical Association to be called the Bombay Branch of the Classical Association.

That the Bombay Branch of the Classical Association thank His Excellency the Governor for his kindness in becoming Patron of the Branch and that the Secretary be instructed to send His Excellency a copy of this resolution.

That this Branch puts on record its deep regret for the untimely and tragic death of Mr. A. M. T. Jackson, a distinguished student of the classics, both at East and West, and in particular a sincere friend and a Patron of this Branch, and its deep sympathy with his widow, and that the Secretary be directed to forward a copy of this resolution to Mrs. A. M. T. Jackson.

The following were then elected office-bearers:—

Patron:—H. E. Sir George Clarke, Governor of Bombay.

President:—The Hon'ble Mr. Justice Batcheler.

Vice-Presidents:—The Bishop of Bombay, the Hon'ble Mr. J. L. Jenkins, the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Beaman and the Hon'ble Mr. Lamb.

COMMITTEE.

The Hon'ble Mr. JusticeKnight, Mr. G. Monteath, Mr. S. T. Sheppard, Mr. R. F. L. Whitty, Mr. P. B. Haigh, General Swan, and Colonel Cordue.

A vote of thanks to the Chairman and Mrs. Haigh terminated the proceedings.

At the conclusion of the meeting the newly Elected Committee sat to elect members of the Branch. The membership has already reached 38.

THE SUPPRESSION OF SEDITION.

Appeal to the Sombansi Clan.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ALLAHABAD, JANUARY 20.

During his stay in Partabgarh, His Honour the Lieutenant Governor visited the Ajit Somansi High School where he received an address and in thanking the Raja of Partabgrah and the members of the Sombansi Clan of Rajputs, His Honour assured them of his great pleasure in coming among them. He expressed his satisfaction with the high level of cultivation attained in this district and complimented the Raja on his endowments for the maintenance of the schools established in a district for the spread of education among the people. He concluded by saying that he listened with great pleasure to their denunciation of the deeds of anarchists. The soil of the United Provinces is, he observed, unsuitable for the seed which they desire to sow. It is the duty of all loyal citizens to take an active part in checkmating the designs of persons who invade our borders with sinister intentions. Government will not shrink from taking all the steps that may become necessary to maintain law and order and it relies on getting from the general public in these provinces active assistance in preventing sedition and anarchy from establishing any footing in our midst.

THE SOLDIERS' HOME.

The Second Anniversary.

THE second anniversary of the Soldiers' Home, was celebrated last evening in the Home Building, Colaba, General Swann presided at the function and Lady Hughes and Mrs. Swann also attended.

Dr. Marrett read the last year's report of the Institution. It ran.

THE REPORT.

We began this year's work in our old quarters at the Temperance all under our old designation of "The Soldiers Welcome." In these limited quarters we felt our opportunities for service were cramped and the insanitary and ill-ventilated surroundings were telling on the health and spirit of the work. Though the work continued as heretofore, the financial working of the coffee and supper room was found to be a heavy source of anxiety to Mrs. Briggs and she accordingly made over this department of the work to our Committee, together with the room at a monthly rental of Rs. 100.

We found this rather a drain on our slender resources so General Greenfield kindly and enthusiastically interested himself in our work and secured for us our present quarters.

On the 1st of May with grateful appreciation of General Greenfield's kindness and co-operation we removed the work of the "Soldiers Welcome" to the old Defence Office and at his request termed it "The Soldiers' Home." But new our troubles really began. The building was in a very neglected condition. The Military Works Department put it into some sort of habitable condition, and it was fully two months before we could get things into any shape. The monsoons had now set in in full force and men were nearly flooded out, the roof leaking very badly.

In such a predicament we could not venture on decorating or furnishing the Home. The floors remained unmatted and the whole aspect of the place looked most unhomelike. The Military Works Department found it was costing them more than they felt warranted to spend on the repairs and left off, so the slender resources. Our treasury was at this time like the proverbial Mother Hubbard's Cupboard. It was imperative that the place be put into working order so at the kind suggestion of interested friends we made an appeal in the public papers and before many weeks passed we had to our accounts from various sources a sum of nearly Rs.1,000. With this we were able to furnish up the quarters put up lavateries purchase crockery and kitchen output, get the compound into a presentable shape, start building our tennis court and lay on a water and gas service. The burden expense of all these arrangements were multiplied on account of the absence of a superintendent to see these items satisfactorily and economically carried out. These items, however, were not the heaviest burdens that feel to our lot with the opening of the Soldiers' Home.

At the request of several of the men we undertook to board about 25 or more military telegraphists, and Brigade Office clerks at a moderate charge of Rs. 25. This was a new departure and in our inexperienced hands proved a source of unmentionable provocation and expense. The ladies present here to-night will more fully understand what we were suffered in trying to manage not over trustworthy cooks and servants especially when everything was left to their management and honesty. Loans and discontent was the only harvest we reaped from this venture and we longed for the time when a lady superintendent would come and control this department. In addition to meeting the local demands on the Home we were getting application from various parts of India from men wanting to come to Bombay on furlough. We tried to accommodate most of these men, but the demand was too great for our limited accommodation and consequently scores had to be refused that it was only when we once laid ourselves open to take in furlough men we realised the absolute necessity for a home large enough to take in the numbers that come into Bombay during the furlough season. That the management and control of the Home was anything but satisfactory was constantly being impressed upon us and we had either to close the whole of the boarding establishment and send the men who were using it adrift or allow these irregularities to exist until a capable manager and superintendent was found. It is worth mentioning here the heroic way the Home was run during these dark days of our history Bombay, Bayley of the P. M. O. office undertook the control of the Home, assisted by a few of his comrades. For a short while he was permitted to live on the premises and supervise the detail working of the Home but just as things began to brighten up, he was recalled to live in the barracks and then everything got worse than ever for want of superintendence. I mention these difficulties to emphasize the importance and necessity of having not only a superintendent to manage the general supervision of the Home but to place a soldier familiar with the likes and manners of the men to control details. When we began our work two years ago the military authorities gave us the services of one of our Christian soldiers, who lived on the premises and had full charge of the work. On the completion of this military service he returned to England and since then we have been left to manage the best we could, though our work had been greatly extended.

We desire, sir, that you and your fellow officers should now look into this important need of ours and grant us the services of a soldier to help the lady superintendent, we hope God will send the Home to mother these lads, so far from the influence of their own homes.

I would like here, to express our sincere sympathies with Mr. Ramsay, who with Mrs. Ramsay came to give their time and service as a labour of love to the Home. Within a few weeks or taking charge God seemed to call Mrs. Ramsay to Himself leaving him to mourn sad loss of the partner of his advanced years and the services of one who during these few days.

While attending to these needs of the soldier we have not altogether neglected the social element. Realising that honourable female society is a necessary factor in giving tone to man's character we have from time to time invited lady friends to meet the men in social intercourse and conversation, much to the enjoyment of every one. Owing to the unsettled condition of the Home these social functions have not been maintained with the same amount of regularity as formerly.

A special feature of recreation connected with the Home is the tennis court to which for want of funds has not as yet been completed. We contemplate starting badminton and other outdoor games when funds permit.

In reference to the religious department, we hold four meetings every week at the Home, besides a gospel meeting at the Garrison Prayer Room every Tuesday night and we grant conduct a Sunday afternoon Bible class at the same place. We are working in co-operation with the Soldiers' Christian Association and all our men more or less attend the gunfire meeting at the prayer room when off duty.

Our Band of Hope for the children of the Garrison has steadily increased in numbers, and interest having on the roll a membership of 40 which meets every Saturday evening. We are not unmindful of the great field of work that lies before us among the married families of the Garrison and has hospital patient, but want of an efficient staff of lady workers prevents us launching out in this direction at present. And now, sir, in conclusion, I may say we believe the time has come when for the better establishment and prestige of the work, an influential Committee must be formed consisting of prominent military officers and leading civilian gentlemen of the city, to control the financial situation of the Home and make the required arrangements for the building of a suitable Home designed to meet the needs of such an important military centre as Bombay.

Ever since General Greenfield secured for us these temporary premises we have been eagerly expecting from the Government of India information advising us that the site we now occupy has been permanently sanctioned for the use of the Soldiers' Home.

I cannot, sir, bring this report to a close without expressing our sincerest appreciation of the warm sympathy expressed by the public of Bombay in this work for the soldier.

Lady Hughes then made a few remarks sympathising with the work of the home.

General Swann then addressed the assembly who could not say much about the work having been very recently among them, but one thing he knew and that was the progress of the recommendation for a site for the Home, and as far as he knew it would be sanctioned very shortly and hoped it would be a suitable one. Every soldier needed a change from the routine of the Barracks and he hoped the new Home would be enough to accommodate 40 to 50 of them.

General Swann then presented a bromide enlargement of General Greenfield's photograph, who had taken so much interest in the Institution and secured them the present premises.

BOMBAY CORPORATION.

The Financial Statement.

A MEETING of the Bombay Municipal Corporation was held in the Municipal Council Hall, yesterday afternoon, Mr. Jaffer Rahimtulla presiding.

Consideration of Budget estimates of income and expenditure for the year 1910-11 framed by the Standing Committee under Section 126 of the Municipal Act was resumed.

Mr. Joseph Baptista had given notice of his intention to move an amendment to the effect that the general tax be fixed at 9 3-4 per cent. instead of the proposed 10 1-2 per cent. But when the President called upon him to move the amendment he withdrew it.

The income side of the Budget was then passed at Rs. 1,21,15,800, including Rs. 3,76,000 the balance on 1st April 1910.

The expenditure side of the Budget was then considered and Mr. Mistry moved several amendments for disallowing all the proposed new appointments and increases in the scheduled salaries with the exception of the provisions made in respect of proposals already sanctioned by the Corporation. Another series of amendments were moved by Mr. Mistry to the effect that increases in the establishment grants for the different departments be disallowed, but these amendments finding no seconder fell to the ground.

When the Corporation proceeded to consider the expenditure estimates for the Public Health Department, Mr. Dikshit moved an amendment to the effect that the estimates in respect of the expenditure for that Department be adopted at Rs. 23,25,376, the Standing Committee's estimate being reduced by Rs. 4,400 provided for entertaining four inspectors for abating over-crowding in B. C. D. and E. Wards of the City.

The Commissioner suggested that the item might be retained on the Budget as he undertook not to spend the amount or employ the inspectors until Mr. Dikshit or some other councillor had an opportunity of moving a resolution calling upon the Commissioner to submit a report on the matter.

It was eventually agreed that Mr. Dikshit should withdraw the amendment and the Chairman of the Standing Committee agreed to make a note opposite the item that the expenditure was not to be made without an express sanction of the Corporation.

This was done.

The estimates in connection with expenditure for Vaccination Department were being considered. Mr. Mistry moved an amendment to the effect that the proposed increases in the salaries of the Assistant Superintendent of Vaccination and the Vaccinators be disallowed.

Mr. D. E. Wacha remarked that whenever such increases were proposed they must be justified. On principle he objected to the way in which such increases were proposed without giving any reasons.

Sir Pherozeshah Mehta observed that whenever a department was transferred to them from under Government control, the salaries of the employees were soon discovered to be inadequate. Such a state of affairs required to be strictly scrutinized. The reason given for the proposed increase in the salary of the Superintendent of Vaccination was the necessity of having an Assistant Superintendent who had some medical knowledge. But he wished to know if Government did not think such knowledge necessary for the officer for so many years. Was the present Assistant Superintendent a medical man or not? Was he to be removed and was a medical man to be brought in his place? If these questions were answered satisfactorily then there was a justification.

The Municipal Commissioner explained that while the salaries of the teachers were increased when the primary schools were transfered to the Corporation Sir Pherozeshah Mehta did not object. The increase of expenditure for educational purposes amounted to Rs. 1,16,000, while the increases he proposed amounted to merely Rs. 500. It was deemed that for years the salaries of the employees in the Vaccination Department were not revised and that when the Department was transferred to them it was open to any member bringing a proposal to say that the salaries were quite inadequate, when he found the salaries were inadequate and therefore proposed the increase. As to Mr. Wacha's remarks that there should be a justification for an increase, he submitted in the case he was quite justified in proposing the increase. As to Mr. Mistry's remarks about the Commissioner's carelessness and negligence in submitting the proposals of the Departments without properly looking into them. But he entirely denied the accusation. If Mr. Mistry only took the trouble to compare the figures submitted by the heads of the Departments and those proposed by him (the Commissioner) he could have seen what trouble was taken in going through every item before finally fixing the amount. Those figures were given in parallel columns and could be seen at a glance.

Mr. Mistry's amendment was then put to the vote but was rejected, only the mover voting for it.

The total expenditure was passed at Rs.1,17,39,249 with an opening balance of Rs. 3,75,751.

The Corporation then adjourned to Monday next.

IMPORTANT RAILWAY SUIT.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JANUARY 20.

Last evening Sir Lawrence Jenkins and Mr. Justice Woodroffe disposed of an important point of law affecting liabilities of Railway Companies in which charging extra wharfage was involved. One Hira Sing brought a case against the Bengal Nagpur Railway, claiming a refund of wharfage of Rs. 20 charged by the defendant Company on the ground that the reason under which it was charged was not published in the Gazette or sanctioned by the Governor-General. The first Court decided in favour of plaintiff. On the application of the Railway Company, the matter came before the High Court. Their Lordships affirmed the judgment of the Lower Court and observed it is not worth while for parties to go to all expenses and trouble which are involved for purposes of determining Rs. 20.

TEMPERANCE IN BOMBAY.

Memorial to Government.

THE following papers are published the first is a memorial from the Bombay Temperance Council to His Excellency the Governor-in-Council, which reads:—

We, the Bombay Temperance Council, in acknowledging with thanks Your Excellency's reply to our memorial of the 26th January last, rejoice in Your Excellency's assurance that the Government, as now constituted, are, as stated, "quite as anxious to promote the cause of temperance" as we are, and we take Your Excellency's criticisms in good part.

We note with much pleasure the remark that the Government are carefully watching the drink question generally, and are making considerable reductions of licenses and introducing other restrictions.

We also note with much satisfaction the statement that "Our Abkari Officers are quite as much opposed to the auction system as you are."

Although a careful study of the temperance crusade leads us to the adoption of prohibition principles as the only ultimately effective basis, on which to safeguard public interests against the ravages of alcohol, we, nevertheless, do not think that "A very substantial reduction of shops, which will be continued in years to come, is a futile proceeding on the part of Government," but, on the contrary, we trust that such reduction of liquor shops will steadily continue, until in a few years there will be no shops at all. That will be a happy day, not only for the people but also for the Government, because of the improved quality of citizenship, which this judicious action will have produced.

Sobriety tends to establish the happiness of a people and, as a natural result, the stability of a nation, and we feel sure that Your Excellency will agree that with the reduction of the Abkari revenue in consequence of greater sobriety among the people the Government will be compensated by increased revenue from other departments due to greater industry and more effective service rendered by those, whose best energies will be reserved for work instead of being destroyed by liquor.

We note the opinion, which the Excise Commissioner recently expressed, as follows:—

"It is certainly lamentable that the working classes should spend so much of their earnings in drink; and it must be admitted that, if in general the number of shops now existing is not excessive, it is certainly so in many of the large towns and perhaps in some districts.

We also note the admission and appreciate the sympathy expressed in Your Excellency's remark, "That there has been an increase of consumption is undoubted, and I regret the fact as much as you do."

In view of the above remarks, it gives us much pleasure to note the assurance given to your memorialists as follows: "I need not tell you that a large further reduction (of liquor shops) is now about to be effected."

It is gratifying also to note that the Government is one with us as regards the objects to be kept in view, and which objects are clearly defined in the Government of India Resolution of 7th September, 1905, part of which reads as follows:—

'Their settled policy, however, is to minimise temptation to those who do not drink, and to discourage excess among those who do; and to the furtherance of this policy all considerations of revenue must be absolutely subordinated. The most effective method of furthering this policy is to make the tax on liquor as high as possible—without driving people to substitute deleterious drugs for alcohol. Subject to the same considerations, the number of liquor shops should be restricted, and their location should be periodically subject to strict examination with a view to minimise the temptation to drink, and to conform as far as is reasonable to public opinion."

We agree with Your Excellency in the remark that we would not wish to see liquor cheapened and its consumption proportionately increased.

We also note with much satisfaction the remarks that "The recent action of Government is in the most complete accord with their 'declared policy', and will lead to a considerable reduction in the facilities of drinking, and to other measures such as earlier closing," also that "We are determined to regulate the drink traffic apart from any consideration of revenue."

Our Council have carefully noted the sympathy and advice expressed in the last paragraph of Your Excellency's reply to our memorial, and we would assure Your Excellency that such educational work has always been the policy of the Council, and we most earnestly crave the practical co-operation of Government with us in this matter.

We are more than convinced from the assurances quoted above, as contained in Your Excellency's reply to our memorial, that the cause, we represent, has not only Your Excellency's best consideration but also heartfelt interest, and we, therefore, look to a considerable advance towards sobriety among the masses during Your Excellency's term of office.

It is because of this that we beg to place before Your Excellency for consideration the following suggestions, which are made in the best interests of both the people and the Government:—

(i) That instructions as to the evils alcohol be included as part of the curriculum of study in schools. Prevention is better than cure. The Bombay Temperance Council will be most happy to appoint a small Committee to co-operate with the Educational Department in this respect.

(ii) That in pursuance of the declared policy referred to in paragraph 7 of this letter a periodical examination be made of all liquor shops with a view to minimise the temptation to drink. We shall be most happy to assist in this matter by appointing a small Sub-Committee of persons, who will co-operate in making such inspection, and we pray that we may be permitted to do so. We are of opinion that much of the misery caused by excessive drinking among poorer classes might be averted, were the shops more judiciously located and, as stated in the Government Resolution, the temptation to drink minimised.

(iii) That the disposal of liquor-licenses by auction be discontinued more rapidly than hitherto, if not entirely. It will be admitted that, if a man pays a larger sum for his license than formerly, he must either increase the amount consumed by each customer or secure a larger number of consumers, especially, as we are given to believe, the maximum selling price of the liquor is limited.

In conclusion, we assure Your Excellency that our Council realize the many difficulties which have to be faced in working out the above suggestions, and it is with a view to facilitate the solution of these problems in the best interests of the Government and the people that we are willing to offer our services to Your Excellency in this matter.

The second is the Government reply to the memorial, dated 14th January, which reads:—

With reference to the suggestion made in paragraph 11 (i) of the memorial of the Bombay Temperance Council, dated the 9th November, 1909, I am directed to state that lessons on the subject of "Temperance" have been introduced into the Vernacular Readers, and the teachers of primary and secondary schools and of the training colleges have instructions to inculcate temperate habits on any occasions that may arise in the ordinary course of their duties. The same is done in European schools. The suggestion of the Council has been anticipated by the action of Government.

I am to point out that Government have appointed local Committees to advise on the number, and location of liquor shops, etc. It is one of the functions of the Committees to recommend reduction in the number of shops as well as to suggest changes of sites, if they consider the adoption of these measures to be necessary. The periodical examination of liquor shops with the help of a small Sub-Committee of persons nominated by the Temperance Council is open to objections and does not appear to be required.

The question of the disposal of liquor shop licenses by auction is under consideration of the Government of India. The views of the Bombay Government on this question are known to the Council.

I am to add that Government would be glad to be furnished regularly with the Annual Report of the Proceedings of the Council, showing what is being done to promote the cause of temperance among the people in this Presidency.

SMALL CAUSE COURT.

CLAIM ON AN HAWALA.

Before Mr. N. W. Kemp, Chief Judge.
Bhikaji Dadabhai Dhunnidaduna vs.
Furdunji Dunjibhai Shroff.

For the Plaintiff:—Mr. K. K. Santoke.
For the Defendant:—Mr. Bemanji Dinshaw.

In this suit the plaintiff sought to recover from the defendant the sum of Rs. 2,000, being a portion of a larger sum of Rs. 2,017, the excess being abandoned for the purposes of jurisdiction, being the balance of a sum of Rs. 3367-8 due to the plaintiff by the estate of Nowroji Jehangir Sethna deceased after deducting Rs. 750 and which the defendant undertook to pay to the plaintiff.

It appeared that one Nowroji Jehangir Sethna died in November 1903, leaving large property at Kalyan and a will, whereby he appointed the defendant's son Rustomji his executor and Soonabai executrix of his will. The property at Kalyan was mortgaged to Meherbai Framji Banaji and as the mortgage was not paid off, Meherbai had to file a suit in the First Class Sub-Judge's Court at Thana and she obtained a decree for Rs. 8,336 7-6 against the estate. The plaintiff was a friend of the deceased and having regard to the fact and for the interests of the minor son of the deceased, the plaintiff at the request of the executor and executrix of Mr. Nowreji Sethna, induced Bai Meherbai to settle her decree for Rs. 6,000. Only to raise this sum the executor and executrix of the deceased agreed to borrow a sum of money from Dr. Gopinath Krishnaji. The plaintiff had lent and advanced moneys to the deceased for medical expenses shortly before his death and had also lent and advanced moneys to the executor and executrix for funeral expenses, for payment of the wages of the servants of the deceased and for the costs of taking out probate; and the plaintiff was in law entitled to be paid these sums first in priority to the other creditors. Dr. Gopinath therefore refused to pay the mortgage money unless a writing was procured from the plaintiff to the effect that he had given up his claim on the estate of the deceased. Therefore, the account of the money lent and advanced by the plaintiff was made up between the plaintiff and executor and executrix and the plaintiff was induced to give up a part of his claim amounting to Rs. 4,004 and the sum of Rs. 3,117 was found due to the plaintiff by the estate of the deceased and it was arranged that in consideration of the plaintiff giving up his prior claim, the defendant who was the father of the executor, should give an undertaking of hawala to pay the sum of of Rs. 3,117 to the plaintiff and the defendant after giving such an hawala paid Rs. 1,100 to the plaintiff on account of the undertaking.

The defendant now contended that the undertaking was conditional on the plaintiff submitting accounts and vouchers and that there was no consideration for the undertaking.

His Honour, in delivering judgment after hearing the evidence, said there was no doubt the account was made up and finally settled and that the undertaking was not conditional, and that there was consideration for the hawala. His Honour therefore, passed a decree in favour of the plaintiff for Rs. 2,000 and costs and Rs. 51 professional costs. The defendant was ordered to pay the amount in eight days.

THEFT AS A SERVANT.

Inspector Ryan charged one Puria Manla with theft as a servant of a box and its contents valued at about Rs. 500, belonging to one Raghunathlal Gopaldas, a jeweller. It appeared from evidence that yesterday morning a Police sepoy, doing duty at Mumbadevi, saw the accused conveying the box on his head, stopped him and questioned him, when the latter said that the box belonged to him and that it contained money and ornaments. The accused was then asked to open the box, when he said he had no key. He was thereupon taken to the Police chowkey, where he made a statement. The property was taken to the complainant, who identified it as its own. The accused pleaded guilty. Inspector Ryan applied for a remand for making inquiries into the accused's antecedents. The application was granted.

BANK OF BURMA CASE.

Accused to be Committed to Sessions.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

MADRAS, JANUARY 19.

At the Egmore Police Court, yesterday, the hearing was resumed in the case against F. L. V. Joyce, late Manager, Bank of Burma, and C. Paramaswara Pillay, late Cashier, who are charged with falsification of accounts. The defence reserved cross-examination, and an application was made on behalf of Joyce. Counsel for the defence asked his Worship that should the accused be committed to the Sessions, they might be allowed to remain on the same bail. His Worship was of opinion that a "prima facie" case had been made out by the prosecution, and accused could not be liberated on the same bail. His Worship adjourned the making of the order of commitment till the 24th instant, so that arrangements might be made to move the High Court immediately the order was passed.

A BUSY LIFE.

Probably no human life was more crowded with work or useful occupation than was that of Mr. Gladstone. It is declared by one who knew him intimately for many years that there was never in his busy life an idle dawdle by the fire after luncheon or a doze over a novel before dinner. Sauntering was an impossibility to him, mentally or physically. A walk meant four miles' sharp tramp, and it was a matter of keen regret when advancing years made him realise that he could only go up the Duke of York's steps two at a time. December was a specially fateful month for Mr. Gladstone. He was born on December 29, 1809 ; he was returned to Parliament as the Tory representative of Newark on December 13, 1832 ; he became Prime Minister for the first time on December 9, 1868 ; and it was in December 1885, as a result of the great Nationalist vote at the General Election in Ireland, that he turned his mind definitely in the direction of Home Rule.

GLADSTONE AS A BOOKMAN.

The series of catalogues used by Mr. Gladstone are now classified with the most valuable of the Gladstone collection in the British Museum Library. The catalogues, with accompanying addressed wrappers, are bound together, and contain, besides the marked books the great statesman desired to purchase, instructions—with the usual proviso of purchase, "subject to 10 per cent. discount for cash"—to send parcels of books to Downing-street or Hawarden Castle. Mr. Gladstone, judging from these catalogues—of dates between November 1890 and the end of 1892—was a collector of Shakespeariana, and particularly of works in French relating to the illustrious dramatist.

GLADSTONE AND TOBACCO.

One of the few accomplishments which Gladstone never acquired was the art of smoking. His few attempts in this direction are reported to have been dismal failures. Only once was he known to try a cigarette, the occasion being one evening when King Edward (then Prince of Wales) was his guest at Downing-street. After dinner the Prince desired to smoke and Gladstone, with fine courtesy, sought to place his guest at ease by at least lighting a cigarette. In later years the G. O. M. one day accused his secretary of smelling of the weed. "No wonder," was the reply; "I've been over half an hour with Sir William Harcourt." "What! Does Harcourt smoke?" exclaimed Gladstone. "You must tell him to be careful always to change his clothes before he comes to me."

HIS ENORMOUS VITALITY.

Mr. A. C. Benson, in some personal recollections in the "Church Family Newspaper,' lays stress on Mr. Gladstone's "enormous vitality and equable strength": "His rather clumsily built, sturdy frame, his massive features, his large eyes, with that tremendous glance full of fire and command, produced a sense of awe, almost of terror. His voice was unlike anything I ever heard, like the voice of many waters. It seemed to have an indefinite reserve of strength and thunder in it, and in talk it was like the ripple of a great river. One felt that, if he raised it, it might carry everything away. I remember hearing him in church say the responses to the Commandments with a variety of intonation and an intensity of earnestness that made it an unconscious rhetorical display. "And then, combined with all this," Mr. Benson adds, "was the noblest and sweetest courtesy that can be imagined. He gave his whole attention, and his profoundest respect, to anyone with whom he found himself. The result was a kind of stupefying magnetism."

HOLLY AS MEDICINE.

There has been this Christmastide a "record" crop of holly berries at Home, and some kind-hearted people were needlessly distressed to think that the birds would be deprived of their winter food through the berried boughs being used for decorations. Few birds, except the missel-thrush when sharp set, ever touch these berries, which are "violently emetic," and remain on the bushes for months. Our intemperate ancestors used to swallow holly berries after Christmas to cure the effects of their Gargantuan festivities. Years ago some French physicians pronounced a decoction of holly leaves, or an extract from the bark, called "ilicine," to be superior to quinine as a tonic and febrifuge. Owing to commercial and other difficulties, the boom died away, and "ilicine" no longer appears in the "Materia Medica."

THE TREATMENT OF SEA-SICKNESS.

No satisfactory reply has, according to the "British Medical Journal," yet been given to the question of how to treat sea-sickness. There is probably no condition, our contemporary goes on to say, to which the well-worn aphorism, "prevention is better than cure," more wholly applies. The traveller or possible patient should be advised to take at a date which will allow an interval of one clear day before starting a mild aperient, such as cascara, and afterwards a tromide mixture. Dr. Bastian was one of the first, some thirty years ago or more, to call attention to the efficacy of bromides and the practice has been followed with success by many old sufferers. If once successful it gives a degree of confidence for the future which is very comforting, and probably has no small effect in ensuring the desired result.

OTHER REMEDIES.

Some people find great comfort from a broad abdominal belt firmly applied. The late Dr. Graily Hewitt believed, and produced some experimental evidence in favour of his contention, that the initial stage of sea-sickness was dizziness due to cerebral confusions produced by the sight of the unwanted movement of objects around the voyager, and that one short voyages sea-sickness might be staved off by keeping the eyes closed or fixing them upon some distant object. There is no doubt a large psychical element in many cases, and that people who make up their minds before they go on board that they are going to be sea-sick are very difficult to treat.

2,000 MILES WITH HIS MAJESTY'S MAILS.

The Arctic mail left Edmonton the other Monday afternoon. About the end of January it will reach its destination—Fort McPherson, on the Peel River about forty miles from the point where the great Mackenzie River debouches into the Arctic Ocean. A sleigh piled up with mail bags also drove away from the Hudson's Bay Company's store. Its delivery will not be completed for two full months. At Lac La Biche three dog trains are in waiting for their 2,000 mile journey with messages from Christendom up into the land where the sun does not shine in winter. Fort McPherson is served with but two mails a year, one carried by dog trains in the winter and the other by the Hudson Bay Company's steamer in midsummer.

DEATH OF SCOTLAND'S OLDEST WHIP.

There has just passed away at his residence at Edinburgh the well-known four-in-hand driver, Mr. Adam Watt. He was in his seventy-eighth year. He drove the old mail coaches over several famous routes, and during the winter in recent years, when the summer coaching was off, he drove a cab, and there were few drivers who were more in demand than he. When he drove the coach between Dunfermline and Edinburgh, Watt had some distinguished passengers. Lord Roseberry was particularly intimate with Adam, and when the coach was full he used to scramble up on to the top and sit quite contentedly on a portmanteau. Lord Hopetoun was initiated into the art of driving a four-in-hand by him.

GREEN ROOM GOSSIP.

PAN V. PANTOMIME.

Amongst all the dramatic movements of the day none says the "St James Budget" has had a success so complete and permanent as the children's play. The children's play, properly speaking, is as distinct from the old-fashioned pantomime as one of Mr. Shaw's plays from one of Mr. Paul Rubens.' It started with the dramatisation of children's books, such as "Alice in Wonderland." It proceeded, in the hands of that very acute student of child life, Mr. J. M. Barrie, to an attempt to amuse children as they wished, but never hoped, to be amused. It seems in danger of reaching the condition when it will endeavour to amuse children as their elders think they ought to be amused. Wholesome instruction, in a symbolical disguise, is in the neighbourhood. The old-fashioned pantomime has disappeared, and quite a different entertainment is gradually being constructed to fill the vacant stage. It disappeared because it became too complex for children and too vulgar even for grown-ups. Anyone who doubts this has only to take his perceptions, made healthy by frequent visits to "Peter" or "Pinkie," into one of those theatres, becoming scarcer and scarcer, where it may still be found. He will see his children yawning and rather scared, and will himself be compelled to witness the music-hall entertainment to which he is already accustomed, without the solace of smoke. He will have to go to the Provinces to find the class of pantomime to which we refer, because Mr. Barrie and others have had a tremendous influence on the spirit, if not the form, of London pantomimes. The success of Mr. Berrie and Mr. Graham Robertson gives rise to an interesting questions. Undoubtedly the most popular Christmas plays of recent years are "Peter Pan" and "Pinkie and the Fairies." They are the most popular with childred and—this is the point—with grown-ups. Is this due to the genius of their authors, who can touch those sympathies which years leave unchanged? Partly, no doubt. But that does not appear to us to be the whole of the explanation. We believe that children's tastes are far more advanced and severely appreciative of art than is usually recognised. If we turn to literature, we appear to demolish our theory at first glance, Second thoughts however, suggest that, though most children's books are inexpressibly boring to grown up people yet the moment the child reaches the stage where any discrimination at all can be observed "Alice" and the "Arabian Nights" banish everything else. Now, "Alice" and the "Arabian Nights" are books that we hope to continue reading until the doctor pays us his last visit.

LIMITATION NEEDED.

The suggestion must not be carried too far. Children's artistic tastes must not, of course, be regarded as infallible. For one thing, children are extremely sentimental, and boys and girls read, and re-read, and weep, and weep again, over books at which, ten years later, most of them will be sneering. Still the fact remains that the two books mentioned together with "Robinson Crusoe," "Gulliver's Travels," and "Don Quixote," would keep many of us happy for a lifetime. But, to return to the theatre, this year has seen an unprecedented outburst of children's plays. One of them, written by a world-famous thinker, intentionally strikes a rather more serious note than the others have done. It will be interesting to learn if children notice this, and, if they do, whether they resent or welcome it. We might be inclined to protest against this pill, however exquisitely gilded, were it not that several letters have appeared in the papers lamenting the effect of these numerous and attractive children's plays—now so numerous and attractive that at least three or four visits to the theaere have as a matter of course, taken the place of the one great annual outing to the pantomime. Not only, it is urged, may the children be spoiled by such frequent excitements, but some of the elder among them may even be stage-struck, This latter danger is all the more pressing at those plays acted by as well as written for children. Do the nursery and the garden seem so very dull when the children return to them? We are inclined to think that the objectors have forgotten two important characteristics of children—a short memory and a vivid immagination. We do not think the memory of footlights and pretty dresses remains sharp for very long. On the other hand, the children's immagination is certainly stirred. They remember "Peter Pan," no: to sigh after a place in the programme or to compare Nana with Nurse, but because the rookery in the garden is just the place where one would expect to see a mermaid, and because the nursery-landing becomes an ever so much more exciting place if it is called, for the moment, the deck of the piratical vessel of blue-jowled, one-armed Captain Hook.

A CHRISTMAS PLAY.

Mr. Cyril Maude's new part in the Christmas "play" for the Coliseum is a much more elaborate affairs than one might expect in a variety theatre, and Mr. Sydney Blow and Mr. Douglas Hoare have provided the popular comedian with a dual character which would seem to offer him the best opportunities for his quaint talents. The piece, as originally designed, has been specially rewritten for Mr. Maude, and we meet him as a crabbed, miserly old man arriving in a "taxi" at Morley's Hotel, Charing Cross, "in and about" which the piece is laid. He spills his gold on the pavement as he alights, while the ragged loiterers hurry to his aid, He gives them nothing for their trouble, and hastens to his room. But "wool-footed Nemesis" in the shape of little Elise Craven—is hurrying in his wake, and soon the tramps round the Nelson column are pillaging his bedroom. For his hardness to the poor waifs about him, the Queen of the Fairies punishes him—the punishment causes one of the surprises of the production. Suffice it is that presently we see him in an entirely different character among the wastrels of the Square, and at the finish the Queen of the Fairies, pleased with the outcome of her treatment, restores the old miser to his place and fortune.

MELODRAMA IN THE WEST END.

As already announced, Mr. Frederick Melville is bringing "The Bad Girl of the Family" to the Aldwych on Boxing Day, and the West End will be able to observe her species at close quarters. Transpontine melodrama is a vogue just now amongst playgoers who are "in the movements," and the mountain has wisely come to Mahomet. It is an ingenious move on the manager's part, and saves a journey across the water. Mr. Melville's "fallen faisies" have suffered their meed of derision, and have thriven on the shafts of their assailants. If the new venture in the heart of the enemy should be attended by financial success, Mr. Melville's revenge will be complete. The persecuted heroine has made many fortunes for her sponsors, but it will be a little piquant to find her triumphant in the land of the scoffers.

MILLIONARIES AND THE DRAMA.

Mr. Henry Miller, the distinghished American acter who has just returned to America after his season at the Adelphi Theatre has been making some pungent remarks concerning the endowed New (or Millionaries) Theatre in New York. In some respects they would apply equally to an endowed National Theatre in England, You can't uplift the drama in a gilded incubator," he remarks, "A lot of rich men sell boots in the daytime, and at night they have nothing to do—so they say, 'We'll show people how to run a theatre.' They dedicate their dining-room ceiling to the drama, and believe this gives them a right to pose as sponsors of the arts in this country. No good can come out of a gilded incubator. What is more, it is against the pride of any artist to be told how to conduct his art.

A MYSORE correspondent writes :—Mr. Eugene Van Ingen has been successful in bagging another fine panther, this time in a strip of jungle situated near Yelwal Road. News was brought to Mr. Van Ingen the previous evening, and early the following afternoon he shot the panther, returning to Mysore City a few hours later.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Are you broken in your rest by a sick child suffering with the pain of cutting teeth? Go at once to a chemist and get a bottle of Mr. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to taste, it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button. It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by medicine dealers everywhere.

Our Military Model

WRIST WATCH.

GUARANTEED FOR 7 YEARS.

Testimonial.

FORT SANDEMAN, BALUCHISTAN.

Messrs. MAX MINCK & CO. Lahore.

Dear Sir, 1st June, 1909.

As you would be interested to hear what an Excellent Watch your "Military Model" is I append a few particulars of one I bought from you in February 1906. It has never varied in spite of rough usage more than one minute per week, and I consider it a first rate timekeeper. Among other things, I have found it dust proof and on one occasion was on my wrist when I fell down a well. Not a drop of water got inside and it has gone just as well as ever, thereby proving itself absolutely watertight.

Your faithfully,
M. BIRD, I. A.

DR. DE JONGH'S

KNIGHT OF THE ORDER OF LEOPOLD OF BELGIUM
KNIGHT OF THE LEGION OF HONOUR

LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL

THE PUREST. THE MOST PALATABLE. THE MOST DIGESTIBLE. THE MOST EFFICACIOUS.

Incontestably proved by Forty Years' Medical Experience to be

The only Cod Liver Oil which produces the full curative effects in CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST, THROAT AFFECTIONS, GENERAL DEBILITY, DISEASES OF THE SKIN, WASTING DISEASES OF CHILDREN, RICKETS, AND ALL SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

DR. PROSSER JAMES,
Lecturer on Materia Medica, London Hospital.

"Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL contains the whole of the active ingredients of the remedy, and is easily digested. Hence its value, not only in Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, but in a great number of cases to which the Profession is extending its use."

DR. SAUNDERS, C.B.,
Late Deputy-Inspector-General Army Hospitals, Superintendent London Medical Mission.

"I have used Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL extensively among the sick poor of St. Giles's, and consider it a valuable remedy, especially in the Wasting Diseases of Children."

DR. HUNTER SEMPLE,
Physician to the Hospital for Diseases of the Throat and Chest, London.

"I have long been aware of the great reputation enjoyed by the LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL introduced into medical practice by Dr. DE JONGH, and have recommended it with the utmost confidence. I have no hesitation in stating my opinion, that it possesses all the qualities of a good and efficient medicine. Its taste is by no means disagreeable, and might even be called pleasant. I have found Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL very useful in cases of Chronic Cough, and especially in Laryngeal Disease complicated with Consumption."

DR. WHITMORE,
Medical Officer of Health, St. Marylebone, London.

"My own somewhat lengthened experience as a Medical Practitioner enables me with confidence to recommend Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL as being more uniform in quality, more certain in its effects, more palatable, and infinitely less likely to disagree with the stomach than the Pale Oil. If I were asked for an explanation of the marked success which for so many years has attended the administration of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I should say that it is owing to its extraordinary medicinal, dietetic, and reginimal properties, and which are found to exist in no other medicine that I am acquainted with, in such uniform combination.

Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is supplied ONLY in IMPERIAL HALF-Pints and Quarts, sealed with BETTS' Patent Capsule impressed on the top with Dr. DE JONGH'S Stamp, and on the side with his Signature, and the Signature of ANSAR, HARFORD & Co.; and bearing under the wrapper a Label with the same Stamp and Signatures. WITHOUT THESE MARKS NONE CAN POSSIBLY BE GENUINE.

Sold by all respectable Chemists, Druggists, and Storekeepers throughout the World.

DR. DE ROOS' MEDICINES HAVE AN UNRIVALLED REPUTATION OF OVER FIFTY YEARS.

DR. DE ROOS' WORLD-FAMED GUTTÆ VITÆ

Or, LIFE DROPS.

The Great European Remedy for Nervous and Functional Exhaustion.

This extraordinary rejuvenating essence strengthens the vitality of the whole system, gives energy to the muscles, and speedily restores the impaired powers of life, imparting strength and manly vigour to the most debilitated and worn out constitution. Those who suffer from Premature Decay, or deficiency or the Vital Forces, owing to dissipation, worry, over work, excesses, or any other cause, will find this medicine just what they require. Equally adapted for the studious and sedentary; the aged and infirm; the nervous and debilitated; as also for delicate females and wealthy children. All sufferers from loss of appetite, nervous headache, lassitude, and despondency—too often accompanied with medical theories—should make immediate and fair unprejudiced trial of this wonderful medicine, which is daily effecting the most remarkable cures in patients who had been given upby the Faculty as incurable, and left to drag out the remainder of their existence a misery to themselves, and a continual anxiety to their friends. In all cases of nervous and functional debility, epilepsy, impurity and poorness of the blood, aversion to and incapacity for society, study, or business, giddiness, disturbed sleep, harassing dreams, loss of memory, and other symptoms, the result of self-acquired ailments that embitter and shorten life, it is truly unrivalled. To married persons especially, this preparation will prove invaluable, giving strength and vigour in place of lassitude and incompetency. Price 11s. or four times that quantity, 33s., per Bottle.

Dr. DE ROOS' COMPOUND RENAL PILLS, for Pains in the Back, Gravel, Lumbago, Gout, Rheumatism, Diabetes, and all Kidney Affections; weakness across the loins, Scalds or other Deposits, Discharges and Diseases of the Urinary Organs generally. Price 2s. 9d.

Dr. DE ROOS' VEGETABLE LIFE PILLS, for Indigestion, Biliousness, and all disorders of the Liver, Stomach, and Bowels; whilst as a universal family medicine for both sexes, and all ages, they are unequalled. 1s.6d. and 2s. 9d. per Box.

Dr. DE ROOS' PILE AND FISTULA PILLS, the only reliable remedy for these annoying and painful complaints. The first dose gives relief, and in all ordinary cases a few days only are necessary to effect a cure. Price 2s. 9d. per Box.

Purchasers are particularly requested to see that every package of Dr. DE ROOS' Medicines bears the British Government Stamp, with the words, "WALTER DE ROOS, LONDON," impressed thereon in white letters on a red ground, and refuse worthless imitations frequently put forward by unscrupulous vendors for the sake of extra profit.

DEBILITATED and NERVOUS SUFFERERS should read the "Medical Adviser," by Dr. DE ROOS, on the secret causes of nervous debility, impotency, depression of spirits, and confirmed melancholy. Price 1s., post free from MR. LAWES, Medical Publisher, 24 Hand Court, Holborn, London. W.C., or obtainable of the Agents for Dr. DE ROOS' Medicines.

VETARZO BRAIN AND NERVE FOOD.

This remarkable compound, the result of the latest developments and achievements of modern chemistry, pharmacology, and therapeutics, is without equal in all cases of defective nerve power, whether induced by worry, over-work, unhealthy climate, dissipation, excess, youthful imprudence, or other influences incidental to the wear and tear and haste or overstrain of modern life. Sleeplessness, tremblings, palpitation, nervous dyspepsia, low spirits, mental and bodily prostration, muscular and local weakness, general and nervous debility, faulty nutrition, premature decay or deficiency of the vital forces, impaired vitality, harassing dreams, night disturbances, sudden startings, dimness of sight, defective hearing, loss of memory, inability to perform the various duties of life, or to enjoy its pleasures, restlessness that can settle to nothing, irritability of temper, female complaints, hysteria, painful periods, backache, bearing down sensations, nervous headache, wasting disease, night sweats, and all other phases of brain and nerve exhaustion, are successfully combated by this highly scientific preparation. Bracing up the system generally, it gives tone to the exhausted nerves, arrests all weakening wasting discharges, involuntary losses, &c.; restores the failing energies, and imparts new life and vigour to what had so recently seemed worn out, "used up," and valueless.

VETARZO BLOOD MEDICINE.

Never before was there anything like it, nor can its marvellous properties ever be equalled in all cases of impurity, impurity, or other imperfection of the blood from whatever cause arising. No sooner is it imbibed into the system than it permeates and penetrates to the minutest capillaries, everywhere searching and expelling the virus of disease wheresoever and in whatsoever form met with; removing all blotches, pimples, scurf, scurvy, scrofulous and glandular swellings, discolorations, roughness and unsightly patches, &c. Its effects are almost magical in the treatment of gout, rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, pains and swellings of the joints, disorders, secondary symptoms, eczema, lepra, psoriasis, bad breasts, ulcers, sores, goitre or Derbyshire neck, it improves the general health, and quickly removes long-standing bronchitis, asthma, and hacking, straining, spasmodic cough, too often the precursor of consumption.

CAUTION.—Ask for "VETARZO Brain and Nerve Food," or "VETARZO Blood Medicine," whichever is required, and see that you get them, as unprincipled vendors often try to palm off inferior preparations (usually their own manufacture), for the sake of extra profit. Price in England, 4/6. Every genuine bottle of these medicines bears the British Government Stamp with the words "VETARZO REMEDIES" impressed thereon, in white letters on a red ground, by direction of His Majesty's Hon. Commissioners. Registered Trade Mark VETARZO." Legal proceedings will be taken against persons pirating.

COMMON SENSE IN A NUTSHELL.—A new medical work on the causes and most scientific and effectual means of self-cure ever discovered for nervous exhaustion, depression of spirits, want of zest and energy, &c., with practical observations on marriage and full directions for removing certain disqualifications that destroy the happiness of wedded life. It also treats on urinary derangements, secondary symptoms, stricture, &c., and no sufferer should fail to procure a copy. Post free in plain envelope on receipt of Postal Order Sixpence, from THE VETARZO REMEDIES Co., Gospel Oak, London. Sole Agents for above medicines. Price 10 annas Post Free.
